How can you provide (even better) support for 1st-year students in transition to HE?

Do you teach first-year undergraduate students? Are you in charge of an undergraduate programme? Or are you a faculty/educational/staff developer working with those who teach first-year students?

Join us to learn about

- 1) a Self-Assessment Tool to guide academics in becoming even better in supporting diverse students in transition to higher education; &
- 2) a Handbook with tips for those teaching first-year undergraduates

WHEN ?

27th May 2024
11:00 - 12:30 CEST

THE START PROJECT

Supporting Teachers who Support Student Transition (START) is an Erasmus+ project coordinated by the University of Groningen. START aims to promote inclusive excellence in higher education teaching by equipping academics who work with first-year students with competences required to set all students up for success.
